

Voice your opinion on the future of the National Assembly for Wales

- Has the Assembly got the powers it needs to deliver for Wales?
- If not, how should the powers be changed, and why?
- Is the Assembly's electoral system sufficiently representative and is the number of members adequate to the task?
- If not, what changes would you like to see?

The Richard Commission has been set up to produce an independent report on these issues – it wants to hear your views. Put them to the Commissioners in person - a meeting will be held between 7.00pm and 8.30pm on Wednesday 15 January, 2003 at the Guildhall, Swansea (Committee Room 3).

No ticket or entrance fee required.
